The ADRC acts as a no wrong door for those needing assistance by providing benefits screening, education and options counseling on long term care services and supports. It is also an entry point for professionals, caregivers, and family members to seek resources and assistance on behalf of their clients, friends or family members. All callers are screened for assistance utilizing a universal screening tool that prevents the caller from having to give the information numerous times. Referrals are made on behalf of the individual needing assistance and follow-up is provided for quality assurance. The ADRC will offer extended assistance to those who choose an advocate to assist with application for services and benefits. ADSS strives to support individuals with the tools they need to make informed decisions and maintain their independence in the community of their choice. |

It is the largest program providing medical and health-related services to Alabama's poorest people--including children, the aged, blind, and/or disabled, and people who are eligible to receive Federally assisted income maintenance payments. In order to qualify for this benefit program, you must be a resident of the state of Alabama, a U.S. national, citizen, permanent resident, or legal alien, in need of health care/insurance assistance, whose financial situation would be characterized as low income or very low income. You must also be either pregnant, blind, have a disability or a family member in your household with a disability, be responsible for children under 19 years of age, or be 65 years of age or older. The program is paid for at the federal level by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Food and Nutrition Services. The CACFP can support people of all races, creed, color, or national origin, and it does not discriminate. A healthy lifestyle, and in particular nutrition, is an important part of good health. So children, and their parents, are encouraged to learn and enjoy a wide variety of healthy foods while they build strong bodies and minds. The main objective of the CACFP program is to improve the diets of children from lower income families who are 12 years of age and under. Some exception can be made. For example, children from families of migrant workers are eligible up to age 15 and certain disabled persons can anticipate in the program regardless of age, if they meet other conditions |

This is offered for infants and children from low income families, and it is a quality, comprehensive program that includes health, educational, and nutritional services. It also includes parent involvement and provides them with access to social services. All of the services are designed to prepare children ages 1-5 for entry into Alabama public schools. Children with disabilities, as well as a home-based model, are available in some towns and counties. The main goal is to encourage and allow each child to learn and prepare them for school and future success. All of this is done at their own pace. Head Start clients also get linkage to free or low cost medical care and dental care services. As part of Head Start, social workers offer parents Family Services. Staff will work with families in setting goals, help them learn about government and state resources, and support participants during times of crisis. This also includes availability of information on a variety of ways for parents to increase their knowledge about children's issues. Also access employment services for those |

Find out which local agency serves your agency by following the URL http://www.caaalabama.org/ | Utilities   | The Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program is funded through a grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. ADECA contracts with community action agencies and local nonprofit agencies to deliver LIHEAP to low-income households throughout the state. The objectives of LIHEAP are to help low-income families meet the costs of home energy, defined as heating and cooling of residences, and to increase their energy self-sufficiency and reduce their vulnerability resulting from energy needs. The target population is low-income households, especially those with the lowest incomes and the highest home energy costs or needs in relation to income, taking into account family size. Additional targets are low-income households with members who are especially vulnerable, including the elderly, persons with disabilities and young children. In order to receive assistance, the applicant's household income must not exceed 150% of the federally established poverty level. |

This ride can be in your own personal car, a car of a friend, neighbor or family member, or on a bus or van. You can also get a ride on a city bus or from a group in your town or area. In order for Medicaid to pay for a ride, the person who is going to the doctor or clinic must be covered by Medicaid for the visit they are going to make and should be approved for the ride ahead of time. How does the program work? In order for Medicaid to pay for a ride, you (or someone who is helping you) will need to call Medicaid's toll-free number at 1-800-362-1504 at least five days before the ride is needed. When you call, the operator will ask you for some information to make sure you are covered by Medicaid and also about your need for a ride. This information will be used to decide if Medicaid can pay for your ride. The NET hotline will be open 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, except on major state holidays. Reminder: Call 5 days in advance: 1-800- |

The goal of SenioRx is to reduce economic stress to low-income individuals who are facing financial hardships due to the high cost of prescription medication. Individuals may qualify for assistance if they meet one set of the following criteria: If you are at least 55 years of age with no prescription drug coverage and have a chronic medical condition and meet annual household income limits. OR If you have a disability at any age and you have been deemed disabled by Social Security, or have applied for disability and are waiting on a decision, or have a doctor's declaration of disability, or you are in the 24-month Medicare waiting period. OR You have Medicare and have reached your Medicare Part D coverage gap. Through SenioRx, the Area Agency on Aging strives to promote better health and improve the quality of life of Alabama's older population and people with disabilities. |

S. Department of Energy. ADECA contracts with local community action agencies and the Central Alabama Regional Planning and Development Commission to deliver weatherization assistance to low-income households in all 67 counties across the state. The mission is to reduce energy costs for low-income households, particularly for the elderly, people with disabilities and families with children, by improving the energy efficiency of their homes while ensuring their health and safety. In order to receive assistance, the applicant's income must not exceed 200% of the federally established poverty level. (Information on the poverty level can be found on the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services website.) Alabama weatherization assistance typically includes mitigating outside air infiltration into the conditioned space of the home, installing attic, wall and floor insulation, sealing duct work, performing HVAC system tune-ups and repairs, repairing leaky and/or faulty windows and doors and replacing incandescent light bulbs. |
